- Iraq is a federal parliamentary republic, divided into 18 governorates for local administration.
- It is situated in the heart of the Middle East, Iraq shares borders with Turkey, Iran, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, and Syria.
- The Tigris and Euphrates rivers, cradles of ancient Mesopotamian civilizations, are vital for agriculture and remain a source of regional tension due to shared water rights.
- The Sinjar Mountains provide refuge for minority groups, while the Zagros Mountains along the Iranian border mark a natural geographic boundary.
- Lake Razzaza, once a significant source of freshwater, is at risk of drying up, highlighting Iraq's vulnerability to water scarcity.
